

PART 1 - TIME TO MOVE ON?

A Dysfunctional State of Affairs

Hi, from the back of this house, I can see a well known supermarket, two churches and a large, busy car park, daily reminders, in my view, of some of the things which are 'not working' in this very troubled society of ours.

For is it not true that retail outlets & markets (on-line as well) sell items, in the name of making a profit, many of which are detrimental to people and/or the planet; all organised religions (while 'doing some good') prefer their followers not to question or think for themselves; & the owners of these vehicles, including myself (now & then), pour carbon dioxide out of their exhausts into the atmosphere, with probable, dire consequences?

The Normal Reaction

Yet, many people - usually 'the winners' in this system (often at the expense of fellow beings and/or The Earth) - seem content to allow these risky aspects to continue, while expecting them (a few more actively than others) to be fixed, if and when necessary, by business-as-usual, rule-and-law-making 'Gods and Masters'!

But is not such a response, although understandable, given current mind-sets, short-sighted and inadequate? Yes, we are all now facing serious problems, such as the current pandemic, in which case appropriate measures are, quite rightly, being taken/imposed by those in charge, i.e. the authorities. (Yet suitable answers to 'climate change' are taking much longer!?!)

But constantly being told what to do/ not to do (the chief method by which humans try to control behaviour) must result in the creation, if not already there, of repressive, at times unruly & violent regimes, led by <sup>1</sup>'the wealthy and powerful'?

A More Satisfactory Answer

Hence, the 'Ideas of Change' being presented here, the attainment of which will undoubtedly require every belief and non-belief system to be updated, in the light of new and rediscovered data about 'Us, The Universe and Our/Its Origin!' (Part 2)

For, without this change of consciousness, there can be no real change of circumstance. So, imho, we all need to evolve accordingly, both individually & collectively. However, if we return to normal, after each crisis, and do not adapt, things will surely and only 'get much worse'!
